

SPHYNX

The most distinctive feature of this cat is its appearance of hairlessness. The Sphynx is of medium size and body conformation with substantial weight for its size. Females are generally smaller than males. The head shape is a modified wedge, with prominent cheekbones and whisker pads giving a squared appearance to the muzzle. The body is warm and soft to the touch, with a skin texture akin to soft peach fuzz. The skin is wrinkled especially between the ears, around the muzzle and the shoulders (more wrinkled in kittens). The Sphynx is sweet-tempered, lively, intelligent, and amenable to handling.

I – BODY/CONFORMATION (35)

BODY – The shape of the body is distinctive. The medium length body is hard, muscular with a broad, rounded chest and a full round abdomen. The rump is rounded and muscular. The back is slightly arched to the touch. The boning is medium.

(5) NECK – The neck is medium in length, rounded and well muscled with a slight arch extending from the shoulders to the base of the skull.

(10) CHEST – The chest is broad and may tend towards “barrel chested”.

(10) ABDOMEN & RUMP – The abdomen is thick, well rounded, but not fat. The rump is muscular and proportionate to the width of the shoulders.

(5) LEGS & FEET – The leg length is in proportion to the body but not fine-boned. The legs are firm and muscular to the feel. Females legs may be more slender than those of the males. The hind legs are slightly longer than the front. The forelegs are straight. The paws are oval with five toes in front and four behind. The toes are long and slender and the paw pads are thicker than in other breeds, giving the appearance of walking on air cushions.

(5) TAIL – The tail is whippy, tapering from body to tip. The tail length is to be in proportion to the body. A lion tail (puff of hair on tip) is acceptable.

II – HEAD TYPE (35)

HEAD – The head is a modified wedge, slightly longer than it is wide, with prominent cheekbones and a distinct whisker break. The skull is slightly rounded with a flat plane in front of the ears. The profile is gently curved from the tip of the nose to the brow. The eyes are large, rounded lemon in shape, slanting to the outer corner of the ear. There is slightly more than the width of an eye between the eyes. The ears are very large, broad at the base and open with no interior hair. They are upright, neither low set nor on the top of the head.

(5) SIZE/SHAPE – The head is medium size. The shape should be a modified wedge with rounded contours, being slightly longer than wide.

(10) EARS – The ears are large to very large, broad at the base with tapering lines to a rounded tip. The ears are set at a slight angle on the head, but are not flaring. Upright, neither low set nor on top of head. The interior is totally hairless. Slight amount of hair is allowed on the lower outside edges and on the back of the ear.

(5) MUZZLE/CHIN – Distinct whisker break with prominent, rounded whisker pads. Strong, well developed chin.

(5) PROFILE – The profile has a gentle curve with a noticeable slight to moderate stop at the bridge of the nose.

(5) CHEEKBONES – Prominent, rounded cheekbones which defines the eyes and forms a curve above the whisker break.

(5) EYES – The eyes are large. They are in the shape of a rounded lemon with the pointed end of the lemon slanting to the outer corner of the ear. They are set wide apart.

III – COAT TEXTURE/LENGTH (30)

The appearance of this cat is one of hairlessness. However, short, fine hair may be present on the feet, outer edges of the ears, the tail and scrotum. The bridge of the nose should be coated. The remainder of the body has a covering of peach-like fuzz. This coat/skin texture creates the feeling of resistance when stroking the cat. Wrinkled skin is desirable around the muzzle, between the ears, and around the shoulders. The skin is wrinkled especially between the ears, around the muzzle and the shoulders (more wrinkled in kittens). There are usually no whiskers but if whiskers are present they are short and sparse.

IV – COLOUR

All colours (including eye colour) and patterns accepted. White buttons or lockets are allowed.
